Cases in Respect to Bargains and Sales of Goods.

No. 1.

Whether a Mortgagee, who had as a further Security taken a Bargain and Sale of all the Fixtures on the mortgaged Premises, was on the Bargainor's becoming Bankrupt intitled to such Fixtures in preference to the Creditors.

23d April 17—

SARAH Fisher, by lease, demised the ——— brewhouse with the appurtenances in Middlesex to John Wilson, to hold for thirty-six years; rent forty-five pounds per annum.

31st Jan. 17—

By mortgage assignment, reciting said lease, and that said John Wilson had since made several erections and improvements; He, in consideration of four hundred pounds, assigns said lease and premises to William Raven, as a security for said four hundred pounds and interest.

Mr,

Mr. Wilson continuing to occupy the premisses in the brewing trade, took one Mr. Fothergill into partnership with him, who brought into partnership two thousand pounds in money; and Mr. Wilson, to make up his proportion, had the coppers and utensils and goods in trade appraised between them at one thousand four hundred pounds, which went in part of his quota. 13th Sept. 17—

By indenture of assignment tripartite, Raven, in consideration of three hundred and fifty pounds (being the money then due to him on said security), and said Wilson, in consideration of two hundred and fifty pounds more advanced to him by Joseph Collett, did assign over said lease and premisses to said Collett, redeemable by said Wilson on payment of six hundred pounds and interest on 14th June next. 13th Dec. 17—

By indenture of bargain and sale from said Wilson to said Collett, reciting said last mentioned mortgage assignment, and in order the better to secure said six hundred pounds and interest, said Wilson, without the knowledge of his partner, bargains and sells to said Collett, all those several utensils, goods, chattels, implements and things as are now fixt to, or situate, standing and being, within or upon said brew-house and premisses, and thereafter particularly mentioned (viz.) two coppers with pipes, and other like articles, and delivered one shilling to said Collett as possession of all said goods, utensils, &c. 14th Dec. 17—

N. B.

N. B. Mr. Collet was then made acquainted by Mr. Wilson of the partnership and appraisement, but knows not whether the partner was acquainted with his mortgage.

This last and the foregoing deeds were registered in the Middlesex office.

Mr. Wilson and his partner are now become bankrupts, and the above-mentioned fixed utensils and goods are seized upon amongst other things by the commission, and the assignees insist that Mr. Wilson had no separate power either to mortgage all his own right in said goods and utensils, they being joint goods; or, however, that as the mortgagee was not in the actual possession when the commission issued, they have now an undoubted right to them as utensils of trade and removeable, notwithstanding they are fixed to, and even seem as if they were part of the support of the fabrick; the backs being fixed to the inside walls, and the mash-tubs and coppers being fixt in the floor, and the pumps in the ground-work of the brewhouse.

Q. As the lease of the brewhouse merely, without something of the inside thereof, will not be sufficient to pay Mr. Collet the six hundred pounds and interest; has he a right to all or or any thing contained in the said bargain and sale, either under that sale, or as things fixed? If not, and if he consents that the assignees sell the same to a purchaser upon an appraisement as they are now fixt, ought not they in equity, to allow him part of the money; in regard the workmanship cost above four hundred pounds, and the goods as such, will be sold standing for considerably more than to be taken down?

I am of opinion that Mr. Collett is not intitled to any of the said goods as fixed to the freehold, the same being only fixed there in the way of trade and business, and consequently, he is not intitled to have any satisfaction for selling them, or taking them down. Indeed so far as they make use of his brewhouse for doing more than the removing the goods, he may consent thereto upon such terms as he shall think proper. But I do not find he is in possession of the brewhouse, and in that case, the assignees do not want his consent. All this is upon a supposition that the assignment of 14th December 17—, is void; for if that assignment stand good, he will be jointly interested as mortgagee of a moiety thereof, and I do not see but that the assignment is good, unless it be for the clause in the statute 21 Jac. 1. c. 19. by which goods continuing in the possession of the bankrupt, are liable to the creditors; and the question will be, whether this clause can, in construction, be extended to the case of a mortgage of such goods? There was a case in Lord Talbot's time, between Stephens and Sole, of a mortgage of a leasehold estate, and of three hoys, and in that case though the mortgage of the lands was admitted to be good, yet he determined the mortgage of the hoys to be void against the creditors, upon the abovementioned clause; indeed he did in that case declare, that he would not say that the act makes void every mortgage of goods; but I doubt this authority will have great influence in the present case, as to the assignment of the goods, by virtue of the indenture of 14th December 17—.

What is necessary to be done to constitute a good Bill of Sale.

A. is indebted to B. and C. in a considerable sum of money, and is willing to secure the same by warrant of attorney, or execution to be thereupon sued out, or a bill of sale of his effects, with delivery of the immediate possession.

Qu. Will

Qu. Will a bill of sale be as effectual as an execution, and as A. does now, and will after possession delivered, appear publickly, can a statute supersede proceedings in either of these cases? Pray advise which is the properest, and whether by reason of the expence of the sheriffs fees, a bill of sale will not be as good against other claims as an execution?

If possession be fairly delivered immediately, I think a bill of sale the safest and best way; and if A. appears publickly at the time of the execution of the bill of sale, and has committed no act of bankruptcy before; to be sure the bill of sale made for a valuable consideration will be good, notwithstanding any commission of bankruptcy that may be afterwards taken out.

as administrator of the said William Yalden, the sum of one thousand six hundred and ninety-five pounds and thirteen shillings and one penny, being two third parts (the supposed shares of the said John Gascoigne and George Gascoigne) of the sum of three thousand one hundred and seventy pounds and one shilling and five pence, received of the said Wynand Cappenburgh as aforesaid, and now remaining in the hands of the said Thomas Bloom, after deducting thereout the sum of four hundred and seventeen pounds and fourteen shillings and six pence, owing by the said John Gascoigne to the partnership estate of the said William Yalden, Thomas Bloom, and Enos Smith as aforesaid, and to allow interest for the same, after the rate of four pounds per cent. per ann. from the said 1st day of June 17—, when the said Thomas Bloom received the last sum of money of the said Wynand Cappenburgh, unto the day of the date hereof, which amounts to the sum of three hundred and ninety pounds, and being added to the said sum of one thousand six hundred and ninety-five pounds thirteen shillings and one penny, will make together the sum of two thousand and eighty-five pounds thirteen shillings and one penny; And the said Thomas Bloom hath also agreed to pay the said Joseph Gale, as administrator as aforesaid, the sum of four hundred and fifty-three pounds one shilling and eleven pence, out of the other third part, the supposed share of the said John

Syrac, of the said sum of three thousand one hundred and seventy pounds one shilling and five pence, which, together with the said two thousand and eighty-five pounds thirteen shillings and one penny, will be sufficient to discharge all the specialty debts of the said William Yalden now remaining due, exclusive of interest; And whereas the said Thomas Bloom, in pursuance of the said agreement, hath on the day of the date hereof, paid the said Joseph Gale the said several sums of two thousand and eighty-five pounds thirteen shillings and one penny, and four hundred and fifty-three pounds one shilling and eleven pence, making together the sum of two thousand five hundred and thirty-eight pounds and fifteen shillings, the payment and receipt whereof he the said Joseph Gale doth hereby acknowledge. NOW THEREFORE THE CONDITION of the above written obligation is such, that if the said sum of two thousand five hundred and thirty-eight pounds and fifteen shillings, so paid by the said Thomas Bloom to the said Joseph Gale as aforesaid, or any part thereof, or any interest for the same, or any part thereof, shall hereafter be lawfully demanded and recovered of the said Thomas Bloom, his executors or administrators, then and in such case, if the said Benjamin Bloom, William Bloom, Richard Green, Grant Hewett, Edmund Gale, Joseph Gale, Henry Gale, George Fort, Henry Leach, William Lissett, William,

The condition is therefore for the said creditors, obligors herein named, to pay and return to the obligee the monies paid by him to the administrator de bonis non in case the same shall be recovered back from him, and also to indemnify him herein.

Pink, Hugh Thomas, and Mary Isaac, and every of them, their and every of their heirs, executors, or administrators, do and shall, according and in proportion to the several specialty debts, exclusive of interest, now remaining due to them from the estate of the said William Yalden as aforesaid, well and truly pay or cause to be paid and returned unto the said Thomas Bloom, his executors or administrators, upon request, so much and such part of the said sum of two thousand five hundred and thirty-eight pounds and fifteen shillings, together with such interest for the same, or shall or may be so recovered of the said Thomas Bloom, his executors or administrators; and also all costs, charges, damages, and expences whatsoever, which he the said Thomas Bloom, his heirs, executors or administrators, or any of them, shall bear, pay, sustain, expend, or be put unto by reason or means thereof, or of his having paid the said sum of two thousand five hundred and thirty-eight pounds and fifteen shillings, to the said Joseph Gale as aforesaid, not exceeding the several sums hereinbefore mentioned to be due unto them respectively as aforesaid; and thereof, and therefrom, do and shall well and sufficiently save, defend, keep harmless, and indemnified, the said Thomas Bloom, his heirs, executors, and administrators, and every of them, and his and their lands, tenements, goods, and chattels; then

Some of the obligors objected to the form of the above indemnity, whereupon Mr. RIVER made the following alteration, but the first was notwithstanding entered into.

Then and in such case, if they the said A. B. C. D. E. F. G. H., &c. or their respective heirs, executors, or administrators, shall severally pay or return unto the said Thomas Bloom, his executors or administrators, so much and such part of the said sum of two thousand five hundred and thirty-eight pounds and fifteen shillings, as shall amount to their respective shares thereof, according and in proportion to the said several specialty debts herein before mentioned to be due and owing to them respectively as aforesaid, with so much interest for the same as shall or may be recovered of the said Thomas Bloom, his executors or administrators, together with a proportionable part of all costs and damages which he or they shall sustain or be put to by means thereof, or on account of his having paid the said sum of two thousand five hundred and thirty-eight pounds and fifteen shillings, in manner aforesaid, such share or proportion not to exceed the sums before mentioned, to be received by them respectively as aforesaid; then the above written obligation, obligation, as to such of the above bounden parties as shall pay such their proportion or share as aforesaid shall be absolutely void and of no effect.

If altering the condition in this manner will not please the parties objecting, the best way is to give every of them a separate bond.

Cases in respect to Bonds.

No. I.

*Whether a surviving Partner who received Monies from Debtors abroad, with Notice that a Stranger had a third Concern therein, may apply such third Part to the Payment of a Debt due from the Debtors to a former Partner, the Stranger having neglected to draw for, or claim his third Share for several Years. **

IN the years 1754 and 55, T. and P. ironmongers and partners in London, supplied J. G. of Barbadoes, with several parcels of goods, to the amount of two thousand five hundred and two pounds eleven shillings and five pence; and also lent him seventy-five pounds six shillings and three pence in money; for payment of which seventy five pounds six shillings and three pence, with lawful interest, he became bound to them, by a bond dated 1st January 1755, and G. G. of Barbadoes (brother of the said J. G.) during the same time consigned several hogsheds of sugar to T. and P. who paid more money to his order than the net proceeds of the sugars amounted to, so that he became indebted to them in two hundred and twenty pounds eleven shillings and one penny.

* This case was stated for the opinion of counsel, before the bond No. XVI. was drawn.

In

In April 1756, P. died, on whose death the whole effects in partnership devolved to T. the surviving partner, pursuant to the articles of partnership, and P.'s executor was paid so much money as his share thereof amounted to, according to the last adjustment before his death.

After P.'s decease, T. carried on the trade of an Ironmonger by himself, and in May following paid one hundred and fifty pounds more to the order of G. G. so that there was then due from G. G. to T. in his own right, and as surviving partner of P. three hundred and seventy pounds eleven shillings and one penny.

1st July, 1756.

T. entered into partnership with W. and S. when an account was taken of his stock in trade (exclusive of debts, which were to remain T.'s sole property), and W. and S. paid him their several proportions thereof, and during this partnership said J. G. became indebted thereto in five hundred and forty-eight pounds nine shillings and five pence, G. G. in one hundred and ten pounds eight shillings and eight pence, and J. and G. G. on their joint account in two hundred and thirty-eight pounds and fifteen shillings.

In 1757.

T. W. and S. received letters signed J. and G. G. and one of them J. and G. G. and Co. inclosing bills to the amount of four thousand and five hundred pounds, drawn by J. S. (who, the letters say, had a third concern in the effects for for which bills were drawn, but was an intire stranger to T. W. and S.) on W. C. of Amsterdam, payable to J. G. and Co. and indorsed by J. G. himself, J. G. and Co. which letters mentioned that J. G. in his own name only had or would draw on T. W. and S. for the amount of said bills, and J. G. accordingly drew bills on T. W. and S. for the same, before any part of the money was received, which they therefore refused to pay.

T. died insolvent, and his widow and executrix, by virtue of a power contained in the articles of copartnership, continued in the trade for the benefit of his estate, until the 22d of April following, when an account was taken of the estate in partnership, and both T.'s widow and S. relinquished their shares thereof to W. on his agreeing to discharge the debts owing by the partnership, and to pay T.'s executrix and S. their several portions of the residue of the partnership estate, as the debts owing there-to should be got in. 7th Jan. 1758.

T. W. and S. before the decease of T. received of W. C. of Amsterdam, two thousand five hundred and thirty-three pounds nine shillings and four-pence, in part of the bills drawn on him by J. S. and also four hundred and seventy-nine pounds eighteen shillings and seven pence, for the net proceeds of sugar consigned by J. and G. G. and Co. (without mentioning who was meant by Co.) to T. W. and S.; and

S.; and since T.'s widow and S. quitting the trade, W. hath received six hundred and eighty-six pounds one shilling and two pence more on account of the said bills, so that there is now in his hands three thousand six hundred and ninety-nine pounds nine shillings and one penny.

Both J. G. and G. G. have some time since stopt payment, but no demand hath yet been made on W. for any part of the three thousand six hundred and ninety-nine pounds nine shillings and one penny, although the last sum he received was so long ago as 1st June, 1760, neither has he heard from any of them since; and therefore is desirous of applying the money in his hands in discharge of the debts, jointly and severally owing by J. G. and G. G. to the partnership estate of T. W. and S. and the residue towards satisfying the debts severally owing to T.'s representative; but W. is advised, as he had full notice that J. S. had a third concern in the effects for which those bills were drawn, he cannot safely apply any part of J. S.'s interest or share in the money received, to any other purpose than according to J. S.'s particular direction, and will, in a court of equity, be considered as a trustee for J. S. quoad his share thereof; although, for conveniency sake, the bills were drawn by J. S. in favour of J. G. and Co. and indorsed in that manner: And with regard to the other two thirds, or shares, belong-belonging to J. G. and G. G. which seem to be liable in the hands of W. to his demands as surviving partner of T. and S. both upon J. G. and G. G. jointly and severally; yet he is doubtful, whether he can apply them in that manner, and if he can safely pay the surplus money to the representative of T. towards discharging the debts severally owing his estate by J. G. and G. G. or such surplus ought to remain in W.'s hands till demanded by J. G. and G. G. or other persons in their right justly intitled thereto.

Qu. Whether W. can apply any and what part of the three thousand six hundred and ninety-nine pounds nine shillings and one penny in his hands, in discharge of the debts jointly and separately owing by the said J. G. and G. G. to the partnership estate of T. W. and S. as aforesaid? And can he, with safety now, or at any other and what time, pay any and what part of the surplus money to the representative of T. towards discharging the debts separately owing by them to his estate? And if the money should be recovered of W. will will he be answerable for any, and what interest for the same, and for what time? And please to advise W. how to act in this affair.

“ Ans. I think W. may apply so much of “ the three thousand six hundred and ninety-“ nine pounds nine shillings and one penny,
 “ as will be sufficient to discharge the debts of “ J. G. and G. G. due to the partnership estate
 “ of X. W. and S.

“ But I think if W. ventures to pay over
 “ any part of the money to the representatives “ of X. on account of the debts owing to such “ representatives, he must do it at his peril,
 “ for if such debt should hereafter be disputed “ by J. G. or G. G. or it should appear such “ debt has been paid or discharged, the pay“ ment by W. will not be justifiable.

“ If no demand has been made of this mo“ ney, I do not see how W. can in anywise “ be charged with interest for the same; but “ if any interest should be recovered, it will be
 “ from the time the money was received.

“ This is the best opinion I can give upon “ the above case, which is attended with strange
 “ and particular circumstances, and the ne“ gligence of J. G. and G. G. is not to be ac“ counted for or guessed at as to their making
 “ no enquiry after the money.

“ But

“ But if there is any reason to suppose a mis“ take or misapprehension in the course of the “ business, or if J. G. and G. G. be dead, or “ their affairs be put into the hands of trus“ tees, or other persons, who may be supposed
 “ not to know of this transaction, I think it “ would be prudent and adviseable for W. to “ give notice to such persons, of so large a sum “ of money being in his hands.

“ Though the law does not require this in “ strictness, according to the circumstance of
 “ the above case, yet I recommend it in point “ of discretion; for I cannot help supposing that “ some mistake has happened, or that there is “ some transaction (most likely unknown to W.)
 “ which is not above stated.

“ These bills being remitted for the special
 “ purpose of answering other bills to be drawn “ upon T. W. and S. I am of opinion the “ money received cannot, with absolute safety,
 “ be appropriated to the discharge of the se“ veral debts owing by J. G. and G. G.; the “ most that could in such case be done, sup“ posing the bills remitted on the joint account “ of J. G. and G. G. would be to discharge the “ joint debt; but supposing them to be remit“ ted by J. G. alone, and on his separate ac“ count, then it would be unjust to re“ tain more than sufficient to satisfy his sepa“ rate

"rate demand; but as both J. G. and G. G.
 "have stopt payment, and consequently the "partnership dissolved, perhaps a court of "equity would protect W. in applying part of "the money to the discharge of the debts;
 "yet I can by no means advise W. to run this
 "risque if he chuses to pay the debts; I would "recommend it to him, to take security for his
 "reimbursement and indemnity, should he be
 "afterwards called upon and forced to pay
 "the money to J. G. and G. G. If he makes "no interest of the money, I think he will "not be answerable for any.

JA. WALLACE.

"I am of opinion Mr. White may, out of the "money consigned by J. G. and G. G. now re"maining in his hands, safely pay and dis"charge the debts by them owing to the estate
 "of Mr. Talden and to the partnership between "Talden, White, and Smith; but when he has "so done, he cannot justify paying the ba"lance that shall remain in his hands to the "representative of Mr. Talden, or to any other "person, but such as shall legally represent or "actually be assignees of J. G. and G. G. who "remitted the three thousand six hundred and
 "ninety-nine pounds nine shillings and one
 "penny.

WM. RIVET.

" 'Tis said there will be no balance left, and
" therefore I think Mr. White may first pay his " own debt, and the residue to Talden's repre" sentative.

" WM. RIVET."

" I am of opinion that W. may apply two-
" third parts of the three thousand six hun" dred and ninety nine pounds nine shillings
" and one penny in his hands, in discharge
" of the debts jointly and separately ow" ing by the said J. G. and G. G. to the " partnership estate of T. W. and S. And I
" conceive he may apply any surplus remain" ing in his hands of such two-third parts of " the said three thousand six hundred and nine" ty nine pounds nine shillings and one penny
" towards discharging the debts separately ow" ing by J. G. and G. G. to the estate of T.
" But in case of such payment, I think it would " be adviseable for W. to take a security from " the representative of T. for refunding in " case W. should be held liable to pay the " same in any other way. If the money should " be recovered of W. I think he will be liable
" to pay interest for what shall be so recover" ed, in case it shall appear he has made in" terest thereof, and not otherwise: and at such
" rate and from such time as he shall appear " to have made interest with respect to one
" third part of the said three thousand six
" hundred and ninety-nine pounds nine shil“lings and one penny. As W. had notice of “J. S.’s interest therein, I conceive he ought “to be considered as a trustee for J. S. for “that third, and will be liable to pay that “third when called upon by J. S. together with “such interest or improvement of such third “as he may have made; but if the same has “lain dead, I think W. will not be charge“able with any interest for the same.”

“R. PERRY.”

“The bills for four thousand five hundred “pounds were remitted to the partnership with “notice that J. S. was concerned therein one “third, and J. G. would draw on the partner“ship for the amount: so that such bills were “not intended to be applied towards payment “of what was due to the partnership, but in“stead thereof J. G. drew bills on the part“nership for the same, but being before any “money was received on the bills drawn on “W. C. such bills of J. G. were refused to be “paid. The partnership of W. have since re“ceived to the amount of three thousand six
 “hundred and ninety-nine pounds nine shil“lings and one penny, and the greatest part “of it eight years ago, and no demand ever “made, either by J. G. G. G. or J. S. and as “a greater sum was due to the old and new “partnership, I think W. may apply so much “of it in discharge of the debts, jointly and “separately owing by J. G. and G. G. to the “partnership

“ partnership estate of Y. W. and S. and “ the surplus to the representative of Y. to“ wards discharging the debt separately owing “ by them to her estate. And as it is most “ likely this money has been made some use
 “ of by W. in his trade, I think he will be “ answerable for interest at four per cent. for “ such time as he hath made any advantage “ of the money. But as this is a large sum of “ money, I think it adviseable for the repre“ sentative of Y. and S. to bring an amicable “ bill against W. and hear the cause by con“ sent, and then W. will be indemnified by the “ court.

“ STE. COMYN.”

“ In a case thus circumstanced, it is impos“ sible for W. to secure himself against the “ hazard of a suit till something can be done
 “ with the money; the safest way is to place it “ out at interest with the consent of such par“ ties who are at hand, or else to place it in “ the bank of England. If he keeps it himself,
 “ it is probable that hereafter he will be charg“ ed with interest. In the mean time the ne“ cessary inquiries should be made after Y. S.
 “ and the partnership of Y. G. or such as stand “ in their respective places. As to the sums of “ two thousand five hundred and thirty-three “ pounds nine shillings and four pence, and six “ hundred and eighty-six pounds one shilling
 “ and three pence, I do not see, but that W.

U u 2

“ may

" may apply two thirds in discharge of the " joint debts of J. G. and G. G. and after " that, apply the moieties of J. G. and G. G.
 " in paying their respective demands thereout
 " and the surplus to T. executrix, and to S.
 " The four hundred and seventy-nine pounds
 " eighteen shillings and seven pence is in like " manner applicable in thirds; and the third
 " belonging to the supposed partner and J. S.
 " should be kept for him, but it would be " safer to get some intelligence who he is.

WM. DE GREY.

" I am of opinion, that W. may apply the " money received on account of the bills in" dorsed by J. G. first to pay the debts due to " the partnership estate of T. W. and S. next to " satisfy what was due to T. (one of those
 " partners) on his separate account.

" As to J. S.'s claim, I think it is a ques" tion merely between him as drawer of the " bill, and J. G. the payee and indorser, who " has indorsed them in payment to T. W. and
 " S. upon the general account of their partner" ship and separate dealings with him. I do " not see upon what ground J. S. can demand
 " any part of the money received for these " bills from W. But if W. apprehends that he " shall be involved in trouble, he may bring " an interpleading bill, and make such per" sons defendants to it, whose claims he fears.

Whether

Whether a Bond for preserving Secrecy as to a Person procuring a Place for one of the Obligors, will be valid. No. II.

BOND from A. B. and M. D. to S. B. Penalty 1000*l.* wherein the obligors only are proposed to be jointly and separately bound, and not their heirs, executors, and administrators.

WHEREAS the above bound A. B. being desirous to become a — upon the list of half pay officers in his majesty's — hath for that purpose applied to the above named S. B. to make application to his friends and acquaintances, and to use his utmost endeavours to get him the said A. B. rated as — upon the list of half-pay officers as aforesaid; And whereas the said S. B. hath, upon the earnest solicitation of the said A. B. procured him the said M. B. to be entered upon the aforesaid list of half-pay officers; And whereas it is desired of the said A. B. by the said S. B. and their true intent and meaning is, that neither the name of the said S. B. or of N. O. of —, or any or either of them, or any of the friends or acquaintance of the said S. B. to whom he hath applied on the occasion, should at any time or times hereafter, be mentioned or made known to any person or persons whatsoever, directly or indirectly, as being any ways instrumental in so procuring the said A. B. to be a ——— in the list of half-pay officers in his majesty's ——— as aforesaid; and more particularly that the said S. B. and N. O. or either of them, should not in any manner or upon any occasion, or for any cause or reason whatsoever, be named, mentioned, or declared to have been any ways instrumental in so procuring the said A. B. to be so preferred as aforesaid, but that their and each of their names should continue and be a profound secret; Now THE CONDITION of this obligation is such, that if the said A. B. and M. D. and each and every of them, do and shall from time to time, and at all times hereafter, forbear speaking, declaring, publishing, or making known, directly or indirectly, to any person or persons whomsoever, that the said S. B. and N. O. or either of them, their or either of their friends or acquaintance, or any other person or persons whatsoever, did at the instance or request of the said S. B. and N. O. or either of them, procure or cause to be procured, directly or indirectly, the said A. B. to be entered upon the list of half-pay officers in his majesty's ——— as aforesaid: THEN, &c.

Qu. If M. D. enters into the before mentioned bond, together with with and on the behalf of his friend A. B. and a breach should be made in the condition thereof, whether an action can be maintained thereon, as the transaction which is the occasion thereof appears unfair, and if it may, what damages can S. B. recover thereon? And please to advise M. D. if it will be prudent for him to enter into this bond, considering the risque he will run, and the small benefit that will accrue therefrom to his friend?

I am of opinion that the above bond is a bad bond, and such as no action can lie thereon, even should the condition be broken hereafter, I mean in case the entry of the said A. B. upon the list of half-pay is of itself illegal or fraudulent.

- But I think the executors or administrators of either of the obligees (though not the heirs) will be as much bound by the bond, though not named, as the obligors themselves.

No. III.

How the Surety in a Bond must proceed to recover a Proportion of the Principal Money from the other Parties, upon being sued.

KNOW ALL MEN by these presents, That we W. D. of, &c. P. F. of, &c. M. D. P. of, &c. are held and firmly bound to C. D. of, &c. in 1000*l.* of lawful money of Great Britain, to be paid to the said C. D. or his certain attorney, executors, administrators, or assigns, for which payment to be well and truly made, we bind ourselves jointly and severally, and our joint and several heirs, executors and administrators, and every of them, firmly by these presents, sealed with our seals, dated the 13th of February, in the fifth year of the reign of our sovereign lord George the Third, by the grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, king, defender of the faith, &c. and in the year of our Lord, 17—.

WHEREAS

WHEREAS the above named C. D. hath on the day of the date of the above written obligation, lent unto the above bound W. D. P. F. and M. D. P. the sum of five hundred pounds, upon the goods, merchandize, and effects laden and to be laden by the said W. D. or on his account, on board the good ship or vessel called The G. now riding at anchor in the river Thames, outward bound, in the East India Company's service, and whereof P. F. is commander, and the said W. D. is purser; and the said goods, merchandize, and effects, upon which the said five hundred pounds is lent, he the said W. D. doth hereby covenant and agree, are or shall be of the value of five hundred pounds or upwards, at prime cost; Now THE CONDITION of the above written obligation is such, that if the said ship do and shall, with all convenient speed, proceed and sail directly out of the said river Thames, upon a voyage, to any port or place, port or places, in the East Indies, China, and Persia, or elsewhere, beyond the Cape of Good Hope, and from thence do and shall return and come directly back to the port of London, at or before the end and expiration of thirty-six calendar months, to be accounted from the day of the date above written, and that without deviation, there to end her said intended voyage (the dangers of the seas excepted); and if the said W. D. and the above bound P. F. and M. D. P. or either of them, their

A certain day for payment.

their or either of their heirs, executors, or administrators, do and shall, within thirty days next after the said ship's return to the said port of London, from the said intended voyage, or at and upon the end and expiration of the said thirty-six months, to be accounted as aforesaid (which of the said times shall first and next happen) well and truly pay or cause to be paid unto the said C. D. his executors, administrators, or assigns, the full sum of — pounds of lawful money of Great Britain, together with — pounds, of like lawful money, per month for each and every month that shall be elapsed and run out, of the said thirty-six months, over and above — months, and so proportionably for any greater or less time than a month; or if in the said voyage, and within the said thirty-six months, an utter loss of the said ship by fire, enemies, men of war, or any other casualties shall unavoidably happen, (which God forbid) and if the said W. D. P. F. and M. D. P. or either of them, their or either of their heirs, executors or administrators, do and shall, within six months after such loss, in case such loss shall happen, well and truly account for, (upon oath if required) and pay unto the said C. D. his executors, administrators, or assigns, a just and proportionable average on all the goods and effects of the said W. D. P. F. and M. D. P. or either of them, which were put on board the said ship before her sailing out of the said river river Thames, and the net proceeds thereof, and all other goods and effects, which they or either of them shall acquire during the said voyage, by reason of such goods, merchandize, and effects which shall not be so unavoidably lost : THEN, &c.

W. D. for whose use the money secured by the above bond was borrowed, has paid two hundred and fifty pounds in part thereof, but it is feared will not be able to pay any more ; and M. D. P. one of the securities, absolutely refuses to contribute towards payment of the remainder, so that P. F. the other security, is apprehensive he will be obliged to pay the whole, as C. D. now demands it of him.

Qu. Whether P. F. will not be obliged to pay the whole of the money remaining due on the above bond, with interest, and after what rate ? And if so, will it not be adviseable for him to get a friend to pay the money, and take an assignment of the bond, in order to recover either the whole or a proportion of the money from M. D. P. or how otherwise would you advise P. F. to act in this affair ?

The

The several obligors in the above stated bond having jointly and severally concurred therein, the ship being safely returned, the obligee having run and stood to the risque and hazard of the voyage, and bottomry bonds having their primary institution in favour and for the benefit and promotion of trade and commerce, I am of opinion, that each of the obligors is liable to pay the whole of the money remaining due, and secured by the above bond, with lawful interest for the same, from the time of the breach and non-performance of the condition. But I should think it adviseable, if it can be effected, for Mr. P. F. to prevail upon the obligee to bring his action, and obtain judgment upon the bond against all the obligors, by which means he will have it in his power (in case of inability in the principal) to adjust and equalize the sufferings of the two sureties in such form and manner as shall appear to him to be just and equitable. But if the end cannot be attained or accomplished in that way and mode, then the method pointed out by the query of assigning the interest in the bond to a stranger, who advances the money with power of suit in the name of the obligee, will be proper to be pursued; and in that case, care must be taken that the non-conforming surety may not avail himself by having it in his power to plead payment or satisfaction satisfaction of the bond to the action which may be brought thereon.

THO. WESTON.

Qu. If P. F. alone should be sued upon the bond, will it be adviseable for him to pay the money immediately after the action brought, or suffer judgment and execution to go against him; and in that case, will P. F. be able to maintain an action at law against M. D. P. the co-obligee for the moiety of such money so recovered against him, or must P. F. file a bill in equity against M. D. P. to be relieved therein, or will it be more adviseable for him to get a friend to pay the money, and take an assignment of the bond, in order to recover either the whole or a proportion of the money from M. D. P. or how otherwise would you advise P. F. to act in this affair?

If P. F. should be sued alone for the money owing on the above bond, and should be obliged liged to pay the whole money remaining due thereon, he can have no remedy at common law for the recovery of a moiety of what he pays against M. D. P. the co-obligee, but must file a bill in equity, and thereby pray that M.D.P. may contribute to and pay his moiety thereof to P. F. and it makes no difference whether P. F. who sued, stays till judgment is recovered or pays immediately on being sued. But P. F.'s best way will be to get some friend to pay the money, and take an assignment to himself of the bond with power to sue all or any of the obligor's thereon, and then offer to discharge M. D. P. on his paying a moiety of the money due, and on his refusal to bring action against him solely, because by such means M. D. P. will be fixed if he bring a bill in equity for relief with costs, both in law and equity.

Whether respondentia Bonds may be purchased, deducting five Pounds per cent. from the principal Money secured.

A. Lends B. one hundred pounds on his effects on board an East Indiaman about to sail on her voyage, and B. executes to A. a respondentia bond, conditioned, that if the said ship should fail on her intended voyage, and return

return back into the river Thames within thirty-six kalendar months from the date: and if B. within thirty days after said ship's arrival in the river from her voyage; or at the expiration of thirty-six kalendar months from the date, which should first happen, should pay to A. one hundred and twenty pounds, together with twenty shillings for every kalendar month the said ship should be out on her voyage above twenty kalendar months to the expiration of thirty-six kalendar months, and so in proportion for a less time than a month: or if in the said voyage and within the said thirty-six kalendar months an utter loss of the said ship should unavoidably happen, and B. should pay to A. a proportionable average on all B.'s effects on board the said ship which should be left, then the said bond to be void.

A. having occasion for money, six months after the date of the bond, sells the same to C. for ninety-seven pounds seven shillings and six pence, which is reckoned in the following manner: C. the purchaser, deducts five pounds per cent. from one hundred pounds, the principal money advanced, and then allows the seller interest after that rate for the remaining sum of ninety-five pounds, from the date of the bond; but in the assignment thereof, one hundred pounds is mentioned to be the consideration money paid A. who in fact receives only ninety-seven pounds seven shillings and six

fix-pence, and therein becomes security for B's performing the condition of the bond in the following manner: And for the sure and true payment by the said B. his heirs, &c. unto the said C his executors, &c. of all monies as shall or may happen to become due and payable upon, or by virtue of the said recited bond, according to the tenor and true meaning thereof, I the said A. bind and oblige myself, my heirs, &c. unto the said C. his executors, &c. in the penal sum of two hundred pounds firmly by these presents.

Qu. Whether C. may safely purchase respondentia bonds in the manner above mentioned? Or is it within the statute of usury to deduct five pounds per cent. from the principal money lent, when the assignor becomes security for the original obligors performing the conditions of the bond?

“ The facts stated by this case don't appear “ to me to fall within the intent or meaning of “ the statute against usury, or to amount to “ such a corrupt agreement or offence, as
 “ that law was calculated to prevent and pu“ nish, or to put the matter upon the footing
 “ of

“ of an unreasonable discount, or taking more “ interest for money than the law allows to be “ taken for the forbearance of it. For this is “ a bond in the nature of respondentia, attend“ ed with risque and hazard to the obligee;
 “ and if any one becomes the purchaser of the “ right and interest of the obligee in such bond
 “ for a less sum of money than he himself ad“ vanced upon it originally, and stands in his “ place with regard to danger and risque of “ the voyage; the matter of consideration for “ the purchase lies in the breasts of the obli-“ gee and assignee, and may be less or more as “ the parties can agree upon between them“ selves; and if A. hath agreed with C. to as“ sign this bond for ninety-seven pounds seven “ shillings and sixpence, the mode stated by the “ case of calculating or ascertaining the con“ sideration money does not extend, in my opi“ nion, to make the agreement in anywise cor“ rupt or unfair, or to vary the equitable na“ ture of the contract, or to render the assign“ ment invalid or usurious; and the obligation
 “ that A. hath entered into to C. in the penalty
 “ of two hundred pounds, I apprehend, im“ plies no more than a warranty upon the sale;
 “ and as an assurance of A.’s right to assign;
 “ and that the condition of the respondentia “ bond shall be performed according to the “ tenor and true meaning of it.

*Whether a Bond for paying Five Hundred Pounds

 Statute against Maintenance; and after Payment thereof, whether the Obligor can be relieved?*

17th July 17—.

BOND from Christopher
 Charles to William Wenman in the penal sum of five hundred pounds, with under written condition;

WHEREAS

WHEREAS John Wenman, late of Barnes in the county of Surry, weaver, deceased, was possessed, in his life-time, of various copyhold messuages or tenements lying and being at Barnes aforesaid, and is part of the manor thereof, and by his last will and testament, amongst other things, gave and bequeathed the said copyhold estate unto his son William Wenman of Barnes aforesaid, and his heirs for ever; And whereas also, the said William Wenman sold and disposed of the said copyhold estate and then died, without leaving any lawful issue behind him, whereby the said copyhold messuages or tenements become solely vested in the said William Wenman and his heirs, who not being of abilities to sue for the same, hath agreed to and with the said Christopher Charles, for him the said Christopher Charles to sue for and recover the said estate, either at common law or equity; and also to defray at his own expence, all costs, charges, and expences which shall or may happen or arise, for the obtaining and recovering the same; and for such recovery, and putting the said William Wenman, or his heirs, into the quiet possession of the said premisses so obtained: The said William Wenman, in consideration of the said costs, charges, and expences aforesaid, hath given one bond or obligation under hand and seal, bearing even date herewith, for the sum of one thousand pounds, conditioned for the payment of five hundred pounds, to be paid to the said Christopher Charles, his heirs or assigns, on the 1st day of April next ensuing the date hereof; which said sum of five hundred pounds is to be paid on the said William Wenman, his heirs or assigns, being put into the quiet possession of the said several copyhold messuages or tenements situate at Barnes aforesaid, he the said William Wenman, his heirs and assigns, to be free and clear, and that freed, cleared, and discharged of and from all costs, charges, and expences whatsoever, which shall or may, now or at any time hereafter, happen, arise, or accrue by reason aforesaid: Now know ye therefore, that the said Christopher Charles, for the consideration of the said bond of five hundred pounds being given, doth hereby promise and agree to indemnify and save harmless the said William Wenman, his heirs and assigns, that no costs, charges, or expences, either at common law or equity, or any other charges incident or belonging to the same, shall ever be reckoned, counted, or charged to the said William Wenman, his heirs or assigns; nor neither shall his or their goods, chattels, or effects, be affected or incumbered therewith, but shall at all times hereafter stand free and clear from all incumbrances whatsoever: Provided always, and it is hereby declared, and the true intent and meaning hereof is, that unless the said Christopher per Charles obtains or recovers the quiet possession of the said estate for the said William Wenman, his heirs or assigns, that the said William Wenman, his heirs or assigns, shall not be at any charges or expences whatsoever, for the recovery of the said premisses as above mentioned; then this obligation and bond above mentioned shall be void and of no effect, or else to be and remain in full force.

The said Charles, as agent for the said Wenman, employed Mr. M. in the prosecution of the suit, and in Trinity vacation 17—, the said Mr. M. on Wenman's behalf, obtained possession of the estate at Barnes, after a verdict in ejectment and affirmance of judgment in error; and during the prosecution, the said Mr. M. only received of Charles fourteen pounds and fourteen shillings, and knew nothing of the above bonds, since which, viz. December 17—, the said Wenman mortgaged his estate, unknown to his attorney, and paid Charles four hundred pounds in part of the five hundred pounds, and thereupon the bond given to Charles was cancelled, and Wenman entered into a new bond for the remaining one hundred pounds, which second bond is since paid and cancelled, and is now in our hands.

The estate recovered by Wenman is all copyhold, and, clear of taxes, is about forty pounds per annum, but the fine upon admissions is at the will of the lord; Mr. Charles, it is imagined, has not expended above fifty pounds, including the fourteen pounds and fourteen shillings paid to Mr. M. and which he expended in journies to take copies of registers, marriages, &c. to prove at the trial; and it can be proved that Mr. Charles had the opinion of counsel, that Mr. Wenman had a good title previous to the entering into the above bond.

N. B. That the payment of the whole five hundred pounds can be proved by a person who was present when the payment was made, and Mr. M. is ready to prove he was an utter stranger to these transactions, and that he never received more than fourteen pounds and fourteen shillings of Charles, though he has promised to pay the remainder of Mr. M.'s bill, which is only ten pounds, the rest of the bill having been paid by the defendants in the suit.

Q. Whether Mr. Wenman can bring a qui tam action against Mr. Charles upon the statute against maintenance, there not being twelve months elapsed since payment of the five hundred pounds? and if not, will will an action lie against him for money had and received to Mr. Wenman's use, or what other steps would you advise Mr. Wenman to take?

" An action upon the statute will do Mr. Wenman but very little service; for the penalty there given is trifling, and would not be worth the expences of a suit. The most effectual relief for Mr. Wenman, would be the recovering of his own money back again; and for this purpose his remedy must be, either a bill in equity, or an action at law for money had and received to his use. To the first of these, the defendant might probably demur, if a discovery were prayed, as it might expose him to the penalty provided by the statute. But if the plaintiff stays till the year is out, that objection would be removed; and besides, as a witness was present at the payment of the money, the plaintiff would not need any discovery from the defendant, and might therefore avoid the objection. With respect to an action, perhaps some exceptions might be taken; as Mr. Wenman paid the money voluntarily and not by mistake, and being paid in discharge of his own bond, was paid to the use of the obligee, and cannot in law result to his own use. But my own opinion is, that when a

" party

" party obtains money upon a bad and ille- " gal consideration, and the person who pays
 " it was not guilty of any criminality himself,
 " the law will consider it as received to the " use of the payor, to whom it belonged.
 " But as this may admit of some cavils,
 " (though I have not any doubt about the " point myself) it may be safest to file a bill
 " in equity (when the year is expired) and
 " pray that the money be restored, and in that
 " court the defendant would be decreed to pay " back all the money he received, excepting
 " what he disbursed in the expences of the " suit.

which was in the year of our Lord 17—, and made or mentioned to be made between John Good the elder, of the parish of Saint Martin in the Fields, in the county of Middlesex, linen-draper (since deceased) of the first part; the said John Good, party hereto, by the description of John Good the younger, of the same place, eldest son of the said John Good, of the second part; and the said Robert Good, by the description of Robert Good, of the same place, another of the sons of the said John Good the elder, of the third part; reciting that the said John Good the elder, then carried on the trade of a linen-draper at Charing Cross, in the parish of Saint Martin in the Fields aforesaid, at and in his messuage, shop, and premisses, there known by the name or sign of the —, and also carried on a manufactory for the making of linen, and for the bleaching, pressing, and finishing of the same at H—, in the county of Middlesex aforesaid, and was also possessed of a considerable stock in trade, in and belonging to his said trade of a linen-draper, and his manufactory aforesaid, and also of divers utensils and implements in and about the said manufactory to a considerable amount. And also reciting that the said John Good the elder, in consideration of the natural love and affection which he had for the said John Good the younger, and Robert Good, and for their respective advancement in the world, had consented
and

and agreed to admit and take them into partnership with him for the term and upon the conditions therein after mentioned and expressed, and had also agreed that the several stock in trade, wares and merchandizes, goods, chattels, implements, utensils, and things of him the said John Good the elder, mentioned and expressed in the three several inventories, all of them of the same purport and effect, had and taken on the day of the date of the same indenture contained in three several paper books, respectively marked on the back thereof with the letter (A) and respectively subscribed by each of the said parties, amounting to the value of six thousand pounds, should be the mutual and equal property of them the said John Good, the elder, John Good, the younger, and Robert Good, as a capital for setting on foot and carrying on the said joint-trades, so that the share and proportion of each and every the said parties, of and in the said capital, would be the sum of two thousand pounds: IT WAS AND IS WITNESSED, that the said John Good, the elder, for the considerations aforesaid, did give and grant unto the said John Good, the younger, and Robert Good, and to each of them, one full third part, (the whole into three equal parts to be divided) of all and singular the said several stock in trade, wares, and merchandizes, goods, chattels, implements, utensils, and other things men-

mentioned and expressed in the said three several inventories ; To bold, receive, and take to them the said John Good, the younger, and Robert Good, their executors, administrators, and assigns, in the manner following, (that is to say) To bold, receive, and take one third part of the said several stock in trade, wares, and merchandizes, goods, chattels, implements, utensils, and things, to him the said John Good, the younger, his executors, administrators, and assigns, as his and their own proper goods, chattels, and effects ; And to bold, receive, and take one other full third part thereof, unto the said Robert Good, his executors, administrators, and assigns, as his and their own proper goods, chattels, and effects ; and by the same indenture the said John Good, the elder, John Good, the younger, and Robert Good, did covenant, conclude, and agree, to be and become copartners and joint-traders, in equal proportions, as well in the trade or business of a linen-draper, as in the buying and selling of all goods, wares, merchandizes, and other things belonging to the said trade, and usually traded and dealt in by linen-drapers ; as also in the manufacturing or making, bleaching, pressing, and finishing of linens, in the same manner as the said manufactory had to that time been carried on by the said John Good, the elder, at his said manufactory at H. aforesaid, and in and upon the bleaching ground thereto belonging, the said copartnership to be accounted from from the said 1st day of March, and to continue for and during, and unto the full end and term of seven years thence next ensuing, and from thence for the further term of seven years, if all the said parties should consent to and mutually agree upon the same, subject to the several clauses, conditions, provisoes, and agreements thereafter mentioned and contained; and that the said several stock in trade, wares, and merchandises, goods, chattels, implements, utensils, and things mentioned in the said three several inventories, of the amount in value of the sum of six thousand pounds as aforesaid, (being two thousand pounds a-piece) should be used and employed as the capital stock of the said joint trades; and it was by the same indenture (amongst other things) provided, covenanted, concluded, and agreed, by and between the said partners, that in case any or either of them the said partners should happen to die before the expiration of the said term of seven years first mentioned, then and in such case the survivors and survivor of them, his executors and administrators, should and would accept and take all the whole stock of goods, wares, merchandizes, goods, debts, and effects whatsoever, which at or immediately before the respective decease of the party or parties so dying, should be in any wise appertaining to them the said parties as copartners, or for or by reason or on account of the said joint stock and trade, trade, and make such satisfaction to the executors or administrators of the party or parties so dying, for his and their full part, share, and proportion, of and in the said joint stock in trade, as therein is mentioned, and that all bad and desperate debts then due and owing to or on account of the said joint trade, should with all convenient speed be divided and shared between the surviving partners or partner, and the executors or administrators of the partners or partner, deceased, in proportion to their respective shares and interests in the said capital stock and joint trade, as in and by the said in part recited indenture, relation being thereto had, may more at large appear; And whereas the said John Good, the elder, departed this life, intestate, on or about the 27th day of December, which was in the year of our Lord 17—, and the administration of his goods, chattels, and credits, was by the proper ecclesiastical court, duly committed to the said John Good, party hereto; And whereas the said John Good, party hereto, and Robert Good, continued to carry on their said trade as copartners, from the time of the decease of the said John Good, the elder, until the 19th day of January now last past, when a general and full account was taken, stated, and made up, by and between them the said John Good, party hereto, and Robert Good, of all the stock, wares, merchandizes, goods, debts, and effects then

One of the copartners died intestate, and the two surviving partners continued to carry on the trade.

An account taken whereby it appeared that the stock in trade at the death of the first partner, was insufficient to pay the co-partnership debts.

The account laid before the creditors, when it was proposed that one partner should pay them 12s. in the pound, by instalments, in discharge of their debts;

then remaining and being in the said joint trade, or owing or belonging to them on account thereof; and also of all debts and other demands due and owing by them, to any person or persons, for any matter or thing concerning the said joint trade or relating thereunto, whereby it appears that at the time of the decease of the said John Good, the elder, the said stock in trade fell very short, and was greatly deficient to answer and pay the debts due and owing by them the said copartners, on account of their said joint trade and dealing; and at a meeting of the said several creditors, parties to these presents, or the major part of them, on the said 19th day of January now last past, the said account was laid before them; and it was then proposed by the said John Good, party hereto, as well for himself as on the behalf of the said Robert Good, (with the privity, consent, and approbation of the said Robert Good) to pay to each and every of their said creditors, after the rate of twelve shillings in the pound, of their respective debts, in satisfaction and discharge thereof, at four different payments, in the manner following, (that is to say) four shillings in the pound, part thereof, on the 20th day of July now next ensuing, the further sum of three shillings in the pound, other part thereof, on the 20th day of January then next following, and which will be in the year of our Lord 1760, the further sum

of three shillings in the pound, further part thereof, on the 20th day of July, which will be in the same year, and the remaining two shillings in the pound thereof, on the 20th day of January, which will be in the year of our Lord 17—; and that the said John Good, party hereto, should give his own notes for the first, second, and fourth payments of the said composition money, and procure security to the satisfaction of the major part of the said creditors to answer, pay, and make good to them the third payment thereof; and that, in order to enable the same John Good to answer and make good the several payments aforesaid, the said Robert Good should convey and assign to him all his the said Robert Good's joint and separate estate and effects, except his wife's watch, and such household goods as he should choose to the amount of, and not exceeding the value of, seventy-five pounds; And whereas upon a due examination of the said account, and consideration of the proposal aforesaid, the said several creditors, parties to these presents, assented thereto, and agreed that upon payment of the said composition money, on the days and in the manner aforesaid, the said John Good, party hereto, and Robert Good, shall be respectively discharged of all the debts by them due and owing to their said several creditors; and that in as much as the said Robert Good was to transfer

all

for which he is to give notes for the 1st, 2d, and 4th payments, and security for the third;

and to enable him to pay, the other partner is to assign to him his joint and separate estate.

The creditors agree to the proposal.

all his joint and separate estate to the same John Good, he the said Robert Good should be indemnified by the said creditors, and also by the same John Good, in such manner as herein after expressed, upon this express condition, nevertheless, which was insisted on by the same creditors, and agreed to by the said John Good, party hereto, and Robert Good, that the said copartnership then subsisting between them, should from thenceforth cease, determine, and be dissolved; and that the said John Good, party hereto, should by himself alone carry on the trade and business aforesaid on his own account; and in as much as some differences and disputes had arisen between them, the same John Good and Robert Good, in relation to certain sums of money alledged by the said Robert Good to have been by him advanced and brought into the said joint trade, it was in like manner insisted on, and agreed, that they the said John Good and Robert Good, should execute, each of them to the other, a mutual and general release in such manner as hereinafter is expressed: And whereas the said Robert Good is possessed of a pair of diamond ear rings, consisting of one hundred and thirty diamonds, and of divers household goods, linen and furniture, and of several pieces of plate, weighing in the whole two hundred and thirty-two ounces, or thereabouts, now standing and being in the dwelling-house of him the said John Good, der or reversion, immediately expectant on the decease of the said Elizabeth Ellis, of and in all such freehold lands and hereditaments as, pursuant to the agreements in the same indenture contained, shall be purchased with the money to arise by sale of a sum of one thousand and one hundred pounds, share or interest, in the capital joint stock of the Governor and Company of the Bank of England, commonly called Bank Stock, and with the sum of one thousand pounds out-standing, upon a mortgage from John Hammond, esquire; which said sums of one thousand and one hundred pounds Bank Stock, and one thousand pounds mortgage money, are now vested in John Arley, of London, esquire, upon the trusts in the same indenture expressed concerning the same; and by virtue of and under certain indentures of lease and release, bearing date, respectively, the 29th and 30th days of April, which was in the year of our Lord 17—, the release being of five parts, and made or mentioned to be made between the said Robert Good and the said Ann his wife, of the first part; the said John Good, father of the said Robert Good, and the said Edward Arley, of the second part; Ann Ellis, late of Twickenham, and then of Teddington, both in the said county of Middlesex, (since deceased) widow and relict of John Ellis, late of the parish of Saint Margaret, Westminster, in the said county of Middle-

No. V.

A Deed whereby one Copartner upon retiring from Business, grants to others his Share of the Copartnership Debts and Effects. Settled by Mr. DUANE.

THIS INDENTURE tripartite, &c. between Philip Pugh the elder, of, &c. woollen draper, of the first part; Robert Wood of the same place, woollen draper, of the second part; and Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, both of, &c. aforesaid, woollen drapers (sons of the said Philip Pugh the elder), of the third part; Whereas by indenture of four parts, bearing date on or about the seventh day of August, which was in the year of our Lord 17—, and made or mentioned to be made between the said Philip Pugh the elder of the first part; the said Philip Pugh the younger of the second part; the said John Pugh

Pugh of the third part; and the said Robert Wood of the fourth part; They the said parties thereto did covenant and agree to become copartners and joint traders in the trade of a woollen-draper from the date thereof, for the term of seven years, under the conditions and agreements thereafter mentioned; and that the stock of goods, wares, merchandizes, debts, and other things therein mentioned to be brought into the said joint trade, and to amount in value to the sum of sixteen thousand pounds, should be used and employed therein as their capital or joint stock; and that the said Philip Pugh the elder, should be intitled to three eighth parts of the said joint stock and trade and the profits thereof, the said Philip Pugh the younger to two other eighth parts thereof, the said John Pugh to one other eighth part thereof, and the said Robert Wood to the remaining two eighth parts thereof. And it was by the same indenture (amongst other things) covenanted, concluded and agreed, by and between the said parties thereto, that they the same parties should yearly during the said copartnership on the 7th day of August, or within twenty days next before, or after, account together, and fully finish between them a perfect account and rest in writing, of all monies, goods, wares, debts, and effects then being in, or belonging to the said copartnership trade, and of all debts and duties then owing by them on account thereof, and that the said Philip Pugh the elder might upon finishing any such yearly account, give and grant all or any part of his then share and interest of and in the said copartnership stock and trade to the said Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, or either of them, in such parts and proportions as he should judge proper, and that from thenceforth during the then remainder of the said copartnership term of seven years, and at the expiration or other sooner determination thereof, the said Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh respectively should have, receive, and be intitled to such part and share or parts and shares as should be so to them respectively given, of and in the said copartnership stock and trade, and the profits thereof, over and besides their several former shares and interest therein. And whereas by deed poll (indorsed on the back of the said recited indenture) bearing date the 10th day of August 17—, reciting that the said Philip Pugh the elder, Philip Pugh the younger, John Pugh and Robert Wood, had the day of the date thereof finished the taking a yearly inventory and account of all wares, goods, debts, ready money, and other things belonging to them on account of the said copartnership trade; and that the said Philip Pugh the elder, in pursuance of the power to him reserved by the said recited indenture, had agreed to give out of his share of the the said copartnership stock one eighth part thereof to the said John Pugh; it is witnessed that for the considerations therein mentioned, he the said Philip Pugh the elder (with the consent of the said Philip Pugh the younger and Robert Wood testified as therein is mentioned) did give and grant unto the said John Pugh one eighth part of all and singular the goods, wares, merchandizes, money, debts, and effects, due, owing, and belonging to the said copartnership in the said inventory particularly mentioned. To hold, receive, and take to him the said John Pugh, his executors, administrators, and assigns, as his and their own proper goods, chattels and effects, as in and by the said indenture and deed poll, relation being thereto respectively had, may appear. And whereas the said Philip Pugh the elder, Philip Pugh the younger, John Pugh, and Robert Wood have carried on the said trade in copartnership, until the day of the date of these presents, and have taken a final and general account of all wares, goods, debts, ready money, and other things whatsoever, belonging or due to them for or on account of the said copartnership trade, and also of all debts and other demands due or owing by them to any person or persons for any matter or thing concerning the said joint trade, and have caused the particulars thereof to be entered into a proper rest book, which is signed by them at the foot of the said account, whereby it appears that the clear or neat estate of the said copartnership amounts to the sum of sixteen thousand pounds. And whereas the said Philip Pugh the elder intends to retire from business, and the said Philip Pugh the younger, John Pugh and Robert Wood, have agreed to continue copartners during the remaining three years of the said copartnership term of seven years, and the said Philip Pugh the elder hath therefore agreed to give to his said sons, Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, his two eighth parts of, and in the said copartnership stock, debts, and effects, on being indemnified from the debts owing by them on account thereof, in such manner as hereinafter is expressed. NOW THIS INDENTURE WITNESSETH, that for and in consideration of the natural love and affection which the said Philip Pugh the elder hath and beareth to his said sons Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, he the said Philip Pugh the elder (by and with the privity and consent of the said Robert Wood testified by his being a party to, and sealing and delivering these presents) hath given and granted, and by these presents doth give and grant unto them the said Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, their executors, administrators, and assigns, all those two eighth parts, share, and interest of him the said Philip Pugh the elder, of and in all the stock in trade, wares, merchandizes, ready money, debts, outstanding goods, chattels, and effects whatsoever,

To have, hold, perceive, receive, take, and enjoy the said two eighth parts mentioned to be hereby granted of the said stock in trade, wares, debts, and effects, and of all other the aforesaid premisses unto the said Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, equally to be divided between them, share and share alike as tenants in common, their executors, administrators, and assigns, to their own use, and as their own goods and chattels absolutely for ever. AND for the considerations aforesaid, and for the better enabling the said Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, to recover, receive, and get in, all and every the sum and sums of money, debts, and effects belonging to the said copartnership, whereof two eighth parts are herein before mentioned to be hereby granted as aforesaid; he the said Philip Pugh the elder hath made, ordained, constituted, and appointed, and by these presents doth make, ordain, constitute, and appoint the said Philip Pugh the younger, and John Pugh, his true and lawful attorney and attornies, for and in the Cases in respect to Copyhold Estates.

Whether an Husband ought to join with the Wife in surrendering Copyhold Premises devised by her, Articles of Separation having been entered into between them, and the Husband having covenanted, by Deed, to permit her to enjoy real Estates, and to join in limiting the same according to her Appointment; or whether the Defect of his surrendering such Premises can be supplied for the Benefit of Creditors.

No. 1.

BY INDENTURE of five parts between Michael Mills, gentleman, of the first part; Mary Mills, wife of the said Michael Mills, and Charles Carey, gentleman, father of the said Mary Mills, of the second part; Peter Mills and Thomas Hood, gentlemen, of the third part; Thomas Mills and Thomas Trip, esquires, of the fourth part; and Richard Rooke, gentleman, of the fifth part;

15th July, 17—

Reciting the marriage articles of the said Michael Mills and Mary his wife; and also certain articles of separation between them. He the said Michael Mills did, amongst several other covenants and agreements therein contained, for himself, his heirs, executors, and admi-administrators, covenant, promise, and agree to and with the said Thomas Mills and Thomas Trip, their executors and administrators, that it should and might be lawful to and for the said Mary Mills, and she was thereby authorised and empowered from time to time, and at all times thereafter, freely and absolutely at her will and pleasure, either by deed or writing, to be sealed and delivered by her, or by her will, to dispose of all or any part of the sum of two thousand pounds therein mentioned, as fully as if she were sole and unmarried, and that he the said Michael Mills would after her decease assent to the probate of such will, or to administration, to be granted, with such will annexed upon request, and ratify and confirm the same.

And further, that she the said Mary Mills should from thenceforth have and enjoy, to her own use and benefit, all such estate, as well real as personal, as should come to her during her coverture, or that he should become intitled to in virtue of his marriage with her, by descent, gift, grant, or purchase, of or from any person or persons whomsoever; and that he would at all times thereafter join with her in levying or suffering one or more fine or fines, recovery or recoveries of any such real estates, and limit the same to such uses, and for such intents and purposes as she the said Mary Mills should should require, direct, or appoint, of and concerning the same.

The said Charles Carey duly made and published his will, and thereby amongst other things devised as follows:—"As to my copyhold lands and hereditaments in the manors of Rippon and Harrowgate, which I have surrendered to the uses of my will, yet I do not think fit to make any devise thereof, but to permit my said daughter Mary Mills to take and possess herself thereof as my only child and heir at law." And the said testator gave all the residue of his personal estate, after payment of his debts, legacies, and funeral expences, to the said Mary Mills, and appointed her sole executrix of his said will.

12th Aug. 17—

The said Charles Carey died leaving the said Mary Mills his only child and heir at law, who proved his said will, and paid almost all his debts, and funeral expences, and legacies.

12th Aug. 17—

By indenture between the said Mary Mills, of the first part; the said Michael Mills of the second part; and the said Thomas Mills and Thomas Trip of the third part:

17th Dec. 17—

Reciting in part the said indenture of the 15th of July, 17—, and the will of the said Charles Carey; the sum of seven hundred and eighty-five pounds, bank annuities, part of the personal estate of the said Charles Carey was thereby declared to be transferred to the said Thomas Mills and Thomas Trip, upon trust, to indem-indemnify the said Michael Mills against the funeral expences, debts, and legacies of the said Charles Carey, and against all such costs, charges, damages, and expences as should be recovered against or sustained by him, by reason of any debts or trespasses contracted or committed by the said Mary Mills since the 12th of July 17—, or then after to be contracted or committed by her.

Covenant from the said Michael Mills, that Mrs. Mills might be at liberty to dispose of the said seven hundred and eighty-five pounds, bank annuities, subject to the trusts of the said deed, as if she were sole and unmarried.

And further, that she, her heirs, executors, and administrators, should, from thenceforth, have and enjoy, to her own use and benefit, all other the estate, as well real as personal, of the said Charles Carey, freed and discharged of all claim and demand of him the said Michael Mills, and all such other real and personal estate as should come to her during her coverture, by gift, grant, purchase, or otherwise; and that he would at all times thereafter, join with her in levying or suffering any fines or recoveries, surrenders or other assurances of such real estates, whether freehold or copyhold, and limit the same to such uses as she should require or appoint.

20th July 17—.

Mrs. Mills made her will, and thereby (amongst other things) gave the said seven hundred dred and eighty-five pounds, bank annuities, (subject to and charged with her debts, funeral expences and legacies) and all other her personal estate, to Mr. John James, whom she appointed sole executor of her said will; and she also gave all her freehold and copyhold estates, which copyhold estates she had surrendered to the use of her will, subject to, and charged with her debts, legacies, and funeral expences, unto and to the use of the said John James, his heirs and assigns for ever.

Soon after the making the said will, Mrs. Mills, by two surrenders, dated respectively, the 14th and 15th days of July 17—, surrendered her said copyhold estates to the use of the said John James, his heirs and assigns for ever. And

By a codicil to her said will, after taking notice of the said surrenders, and that the same were so made upon trust, for securing to Mr. James the payment of all such sums of money as he should during her life advance and pay for her, or by her order, or on her account. She did thereby declare and direct, that in case the said copyhold estates should not be sold at her death, for the purpose of paying her debts, then the said John James should stand seised thereof, subject to, and charged with all such sums of money as should be due from her at her death, or which he should pay by her order or desire, and the fines and fees of his being being admitted to, and surrendering the said estates, in trust for the sole use and benefit of him the said John James, his heirs and assigns for ever.

Note.

At the time of the making these surrenders it was apprehended that Mr. Mills the husband might be called upon at any time either in Mrs. Mills' life-time, or after her death, to join in a surrender of the said estates, and therefore he was not applied to, nor did join with Mrs. Mills therein.

5th Sept. 17—.

Mrs. Mills died, and Mr. James applied to Mr. Mills to join with him in proving her will, in order to save a great expence which Mr. James's proctor told him would be occasioned in case Mr. Mills did not join in the probate; but Mr. Mills (notwithstanding his covenants for that purpose) refused to join in the probate unless upon such terms as Mr. James was advised not to comply with, and thereupon Mr. James was obliged to be at the expence of above twenty pounds to obtain the probate.

Since Mrs. Mills' death it has appeared, that her debts are greatly more than her personal estate will extend to pay; and that even the money to arise by sale of the said copyhold estates with her personal estate, will be little more than sufficient to pay her funeral expences, debts and legacies; and Mr. James being very desirous to satisfy all her creditors as soon as might be, has entered into a treaty for the sale of the said copyhold estates.

But the attorney for the purchaser makes an objection to Mr. James's title thereto, and alleges that as Mr. Mills, the husband, did not join with Mrs. Mills, in the said surrenders to Mr. James, the same are void, and that the said copyhold estates have therefore upon Mr. Mills's death descended to Charles Mills, her only son and heir at law, and that this defect cannot now be remedied.

Note, It is to be observed on the consideration of this case, that the principal and indeed sole intention of Mrs. Mills, in making the said surrenders to Mrs. James, was, to enable her to pay her debts, without being at the expence of raising money from time to time for that purpose, and the charges of mortgages, surrenders, and admissions, and for no other purpose; and that it was so meant and understood between them, appears from a defeazance or declaration of trust under Mr. James's hand, dated immediately after the dates of the said surrenders, whereby he declared that after payment of the monies, he should advance and pay for her, and on her account, he would stand seised of the said copyhold estates, to and for her use, or as she should appoint; from whence it appears that Mr. James had no view to his own benefit, but only to serve Mrs. Mills, by taking the said surrenders.

Besides, in case it had happened, (which was not at all unlikely that Mr. Mills had been abroad or out of town at the time of making the said surrenders), in case Mrs. Mills had been desirous of requiring him to join with her therein, it would have been exceedingly hard, that by such an accident Mrs. Mills should have been deprived of making a provision out of her own estate released to her by Mr. Mills, by the deeds of separation, for payment of her debts; but Mr. and Mrs. Mills were under such unhappy and disagreeable circumstances together, that she would not on any account have had him known that she wanted to raise money to pay her debts, and this case was so circumstanced, that there was not time between the date of the surrenders, and Mrs. Mills' death to get application made to Mr. Mills, and the surrenders made by him, for on the 30th of July 17—, the day after the execution of Mrs. Mills' codicil, she was taken so ill as to be obliged to be removed from London, and on the 5th of September following, very little more than a month after the date of the said surrenders, she died. In pursuance of the said surrenders, Mr. James did on the 22d of August following, pay to Mr. Joseph Jenks the sum of one hundred and thirty-one pounds fifteen shillings and one penny, a debt due to him from the said Mr. Carey, Mrs. Mills' father, under a decree of the Court of Chancery, and which debt the said 785*l.* Bank annuities nuities were liable to pay, and for payment of which Mr. Jenks might and most probably would have applied to Mr. Thomas Mills, and Mr. Tripp the trustees, in the said deed of the 12th of December, 17—, the raising of which would have been attended with a great expence and diminution of Mrs. Mills' personal estate; and Mr. James also, both before and since that time, paid several other considerable sums for Mrs. Mills' debts and funeral expences, exclusive of money he had lent her, and debts paid before her death by her desire. As to Mr. Mills not being applied to, or required to join with Mrs. Mills, in the said surrenders, in her life-time, it is apprehended from the true construction of both his covenants, that he was compellable to join either with her or with her heirs, or devisees, after her death, as the words of the covenants are, "That he would limit her estates to such uses as she should appoint"—And as a will is an appointment, it is submitted that her trustee or devisee will be intitled to call upon Mr. Mills, to do what Mr. Mills could have compelled him to do under his said covenants. But the chief point in this case is, that it is a case of creditors, for the whole of Mrs. Mills' copyhold and personal estates, together, will be very little (if any thing) more than sufficient to pay her funeral expences, debts, and legacies, and the expences of the executors; and therefore though the legal estate of the copyholds may have descended to Mrs. Mills' son and heir at law, in case the said surrenders to Mr. James are void, yet it is submitted, that he will be considered as a trustee for her devisee and creditors, it being the rule of courts of equity to supply any defects, for the benefit of fair and honest creditors, who would otherwise be deprived of their just debts.

N. B. Mrs. Mills was not examined apart at the time of making the said surrenders, she being intitled to dispose of her estates by the deeds of separation, as if she were sole and unmarried.

Qu. 1st. You will please therefore upon the whole circumstances of this case, to advise whether the surrenders made by Mrs. Mills to Mr. James, "for the sole purpose of paying her debts" are now good and valid, notwithstanding Mr. Mills did not join therein, or whether the same are void, and the copyhold estates thereby descended to her son and heir at law, and if you should be of that opinion, whether he will not be considered as a trustee for the devisee in Mrs. Mills'

Mills' will, and for her creditors?

I am of opinion as well upon principles of law as the authority of a case mentioned in a note at the end of the case of Peacock and Monk, 2 Vez. 192. that a husband cannot give power to his wife to make a will of her real estate, or to dispose of it in any other manner than as the law prescribes: In the case of a feme covert, (viz.) if freehold of inheritance, that they both join in a fine, and if copyhold, that they also join in a surrender, whereupon the wife should be examined apart.—In the case of Taylor v. Phillips, 1 Vez. 229. it is made a doubt whether a feme covert might not surrender to the use of her will, without her husband's joining, he being present at the time; but in the case of Stephens (lessee of Wife) v. Tyrel in Serjeant Wilson's Rep. part 2. fol. 1. it appears to have been resolved, that a custom for a feme covert to surrender her copyhold, without the assent of her husband is against law, so that I take it to be clear, that neither of these surrenders are effectual in point of law, or will prevent the inheritance in this copyhold from descending upon the heir at law, but whether a court of equity will not, under all the circumstances of this case, think themselves warranted in supplying the defect of a proper surrender in favour of creditors, is in my judgment a doubtful point, and I rather incline to be of opinion that they will, for the husband having by the terms of the deeds of separation, made himself a mere trustee for the separate use of his wife, and engaged to concur in all such acts as should be necessary to enable her to dispose of her real and personal estate, I see no reason why the omission in not calling upon him to join in the surrender may not be supplied in equity against an heir at law, in favour of creditors, but not as I conceive in favour of Mr. James, a mere volunteer, or the other legatees.

Qu. 2d. Whether in case Mr. Mills now joins with Mr. James, in one or more surrender or surrenders to a purchaser, it will not remedy the defect of his not joining with Mrs. Mills in the said surrenders to Mr. James, and whether he is now compellable thereto, under his covenants in deeds of July 17—, and December 17—.

If the estate descended to the heir upon the death of Mrs. Mills, as it certainly did, if the acts done in her life-time were not effectual in point of law to break the descent, and I think, think, for the reasons before mentioned, they were not, it is not, as I conceive, in the power of Mr. Mills, by any act he can now do, to divest the estate so descended, if it was, there can, I think, be no doubt but he would be compellable to perform it.

The opinion of

Mr. F——R.

If the marriage articles contain an agreement that the intended wife should dispose of such estate as should come to her during the coverture, then I think the disposition she has made of her copyhold estate would be supported in equity, but if there be no such agreement in the articles, I think it very doubtful whether a court of equity would support her disposition. Before the case of Wright and Holford, it was the general opinion that there were but two ways whereby a married woman could dispose of her real estate, the one by conveying it previous to her marriage, to trustees, to such uses as she, notwithstanding her coverture, should appoint; the other by fine or recovery of a freehold, or surrender of a copyhold, in which she and her husband joined, but in that case a woman had only an equitable estate, and her husband by articles previous to her marriage, agreed that she should have power to dispose thereof, and it was decreed by Lord Northington, and affirmed in the House of Lords, that her will devising the same was effectual. And afterwards the case Rippon v. Harodin was this, that a woman was intitled to a legal estate, and her husband, previous to his marriage with her, gave bond to trustees, on condition that she would have power by will to dispose of her estate, which she did, and Lord Camden, 22d November 1769, decreed the heir to be a trustee for the devisee, and as I apprehend upon this principle, that what is upon a valuable consideration agreed to be done, is in equity considered as done, and he said that case was not to be distinguished from the case of Wright v. Holford. If the deed of 12th December 17—, could be considered as founded on a valuable consideration, I should be of opinion, upon the authority of Lord Camden's decree, that Mrs. Mills' heir would be a trustee for Mr. James, but it does not appear that that deed was founded on a valuable consideration, for though the husband was thereby intitled to an indemnity out of the Bank annuities, against the debts of the wife, yet that, as far as appears, was no consideration, because without that deed he would have therefore had as great or greater interest therein, and unless there be something in the marriage articles, to the effect above mentioned, I incline to think this case being founded upon an agreement after marriage will not be governed by either of the authorities above cited, but the the disposition made by the wife will be void both at law and in equity, as far as relates to Mr. James's interest at least, unless there be something more in the deeds than appears, though as creditors are interested in the disposition, I rather incline to think that a court of equity may support them as far as their interest is concerned. I suppose there is no custom in the manor, for married women to surrender their estates with the consent of their husband, without his joining therein; as such customs are very unusual, and no such is stated, but if there be any, it may then deserve consideration, whether her surrender might not be supported, Moor 123. 3 Lev. 81. 2 Brownl. 218. 1 Vez. 229. 2 Wils. 1. though the want of a private examination would create a doubt.

ANSWER to the second Query.

I think Mr. Mills, now making a surrender, would not remedy the defect, and I think he is not now compellable thereto, because his covenant is only that he would join with her and not with her heirs or assigns, and because he has no estate in him to surrender, unless there is a custom for a tenancy by the curtesy, which is not very common in copyhold manors, but if there be such a custom, as he had issue by his late wife, I think Mr. James would, under the custom and the deeds, be intitled to the copyhold estate for his life.

Whether a Mistake in the Court Rolls by admitting a Person under the Will of his Mother (who had no Right) when he ought to have been admitted as Heir at Law to his Father or under his Will can be rectified.

18th May,
 17—

WILLIAM Child was admitted tenant on the surrender of Mary Yorick, widow, to a customary messuage, with the farm and orchard thereto

thereto belonging, parcel of the manor of Friern Barnet in Middlesex.

To hold to the said William Child, his heirs and assigns for ever, by copy of court roll at the will of the lord, &c.

William Child by his will duly executed and attested by three witnesses, devised in the words following: "I give, devise, and bequeath unto my loving son John Child, all and singular my copyhold estate, situate at Friern Barnet, in the county of Middlesex, when he attains his age of twenty-one years."—And the testator devised the residue of his estate both real and personal to his wife Mary Child, and appointed her sole executrix, who proved the same in the prerogative court of Canterbury.

27th June,
17—.

N. B. Testator had no other children than John the devisee, and Elizabeth who married Richard Jessop, and is dead without issue.

Mary Child, the widow, by her will duly executed and attested by two witnesses, devised in the words following: 'I give and bequeath unto my son John Child, all that my copyhold messuage or tenement in the parish of Friern Barnet in the county of Middlesex, when he shall attain to the age of twenty-one years, for his sole use and benefit, but if he should happen to die before he attains to the said age, and he so dying without issue, then the said copyhold estate to go to my daughter Elizabeth beth wife of Richard Jessop, and the heirs of her body." And testatrix devised the residue of her estate to her said son John Child, and appointed said Richard Jessop and Richard Weston executors of her will, who proved the same.

2d January,

26th June,
17—.

John Child was admitted tenant as devisee under the will of his mother (who in the admission is said to be admitted tenant thereto in 17—) to the aforesaid premises, to hold to the said John Child according to the form and effect of the said will by copy of court roll, at the will, &c.

24th November,
21 Geo. 2.

A commission of bankruptcy issued against John Child, and he was declared a bankrupt thereon, and Stanley Goddard and Benjamin Burroughs were duly chosen assignees of his estate, to whom an assignment was made of his personal, but no bargain and sale of his real estate. Both the assignees being dead, as well as three of the commissioners, and a considerable freehold estate in tail, of which bankrupt was seised in reversion coming into possession, a renewed commission was thereupon awarded against the said John Child, and Mr. Weston hath been duly chosen assignee of his estate in the room of the deceased assignees.

Mr. Weston the assignee having sold the said copyhold premises to Mr. Cassell for forty-five pounds, the commissioners propose to convey the same to him in the first instance by bargain gain and sale inrolled, but his counsel objects to the title on account of the bankrupt's being admitted as devisee under the will of his mother, who had not any right to the copyhold premisses, nor has been admitted thereto. But as no surrender appears to have been made by William the father, to the use of his will, it is apprehended that John the son ought to have been admitted as heir at law of his father.

Qu. Whether any alteration can be made in the court rolls or any proper notice of the mistake entered thereon so as to make the purchaser a good title to the said copyhold premisses by bargain and sale inrolled from the commissioners, or by any other and what means.

"I do not see that any alteration can be made in the court rolls or any notice taken of the mistake in being admitted under the will of his mother, instead of as heir at law to his father, there being no surrender to the use of his will. But as the lords have received their fine upon his admission, and he being intitled in every light, either as heir at law of his father, or as devisee under his will, and also as devisee

devisee under his mother's will, I think a purchaser safe under this title, and that the commissioners may, by bargain and sale inrolled, convey the same to a purchaser, in case the same is not already conveyed to the assignee."
